HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

The Story of a Sprain.

The foot of a danseuse is as important to the lovers of the ballet as the chest of a tenor is to the lovers of music. The habitudes of the opera have now an all-absorbing topic for conversation in the foot of Mlle. Mauri, which that estimable ballerina sprained some time ago. The treatment that she is undergoing for this sprain deserves mention on as well as the history of the manner in which she came to adopt it. An old habitue of the opera, who remembered that a similar accident once happened to Fannie Elster, communicated to Mlle. Mauri the treatment that had cured her predecessor. This treatment was to go to the abattoir every morning and insert the bare foot into the warm entrails of a freshly killed sheep or calf. Mlle. Mauri, in despair at the slowness of her recovery, determined to try the efficacy of this remedy. But Rosita Mauri if a grand artist is also a woman, and on the occasion of her first visit to the abattoir at La Vielle, when the butcher appeared, armed with his long knife and followed by a young calf, bleating as though conscious of the fate that was in store for it, she shut her eyes and declared: "No! no. I can never see such a sight. Let the poor animal live. I will not have it die for me!" The Superintendent of the abattoir explained to the tender-hearted dame that the calf was not going to die for her; it was going to die to satisfy the hunger of the Parisians—of some of the abonnés of the Opéra, perhaps. Whether she used its body as a remedy for her foot or not the fate of the calf was sealed all the same. The Superintendent, however, sent for another calf, whose execution took place behind a curtain, through which Mlle. Mauri passed her foot to receive the treatment reserved. Taglioni, the famous danseuse of another generation, used to have sprains that were the frequent torment of her admirers. These sprains were the inventions of her father, a very ordinary manufacturer of bal'lets, but an incomparable guardian of the dancer's fame, fort me and honor. If he was in a bad humor, or if he wanted an increase in her salary the sprain at once made its appearance.

A Shark Caught by a Clam.

Among the discoveries recently made in the great Dead Sea of the West, according to an exchange, were some gigantic oyster shells more than six feet long, each pair of which once contained an animal that the average boy could not lift. To-day the only really large shell-fish is of the clam family. It is named Tridacna gigas, a contemporary tells us, and is found in the Pacific Ocean, the length of its life being sixty or seventy years. It grows imbedded in the coral and is fastened to the rocks by a cord called the byssus, which is so tough that it can be cut only with an ax. The shells themselves are six feet long, each valve weighing more than 250 pounds, while the animal part often weighs thirty or forty pounds. When alive the tridacna lies with its great valves ajar, capturing any food that may pass within its scalloped edges. A shark was once caught in this way. Swimming along in search of food, he unwarily passed in the door of the great clam's house, his tail rudely striking the animal. Like a flash the tremendous jaws snapped together, squeezing the man-eater as if he were in a vise and rendering him utterly powerless. As the tide went down the shark's head appeared above water, dashing about and churning up the sea. The hubbub attracted the attention of some thieves, who soon captured both shark and clam

WIT AND WISDOM.

—When you fret and fume at the petty ills of life remember that the wheels which go round without creaking last longest.—N. Y. Herald.

One of the best rules in conversation is, never to say a thing which any of the company can reasonably wish had been left unsaid.—Swift.

—We are told by a recipe book that eggs may be kept in good order for six months by dipping them into warm tallow, and after they are cool packing them in saw-dust; cover with sawdust and make as nearly air-tight as possible, and put away in a dry, cool place. This costs but little more than twice as much as it would to throw away the eggs you have and buy fresh ones when you want 'em.—N. Y. Post.

—Nothing is ever lost by being pleasant and agreeable. You ask for two pounds of steak—no more, no less. One butcher growls that he can't cut off just two pounds, and you leave him, thoroughly vexed. At the next stall, the man of meat bears your request with unruled visage, cuts off a pound and a half, slaps it into the scale and out again in double-quick time, rolls it up neatly, and says, with a sweet smile: "Just two pounds, ma'am." He is the man who succeeds.—Chicago Tribune.

—What is your business?" inquired a city merchant of a country youth with whom he was playing an innocent game of checkers. "Oh, I'm one of nature's humorists," replied the verdant lad. "I fail to catch on," said the merchant, unconsciously dropping into slang; "what are you giving me?" "Just what I said, boss," responded the boy. "Well, what do you mean by nature's humorist?" "Why, I tickle the ground with a hoe," explained the young granger, "and the earth smiles with plenty." The merchant passed, and the youth made it spades.

High Timber.

Firewood is very dear in Austin just now, as illustrated by the following incident. One of the wealthiest citizens bought a bottle of bitters yesterday, and told the clerk to charge it to his account.

The clerk smiled a pitying smile, and said:

"I would prefer the cash."

The indignant nabob, who is worth millions, flushed up and slammed down a dollar. The clerk, with a most astonished expression, took up the coin, examined it, bit it, and otherwise intimated that he believed it was a counterfeit.

"Isn't that dollar good?" asked the nabob.

"I believe so, but I'd like to know how you came by it. I heard you bought a load of wood last week, but it must be a mistake, or you would not have a dollar left."

It was a mistake, for the nabob had not bought the wood, for wood has never been so dear within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

It is said in Michigan that owing to the developments in regard to the failure of the Ottawa Iron Works, Senator Ferry's name will probably be withdrawn from the contest for the United States Senatorship.

If American workingmen are really content in the United States with the crumbs which fall to them from the tables of the subsidized mill owners, why do we see labor combinations and strikes in America?

The Cincinnati News dolefully says: No trains are leaving our doors, no boats are coming to our wharves, there is no gaslight in street or house, a car is doled out like a precious thing, not fuel is getting scarce. Who and where are we, any way?

The Duty of Legislators.

Newark Advertiser.

The theory that members are required to introduce every bill sent them by constituents seems to have been generally adopted, although it is false on its face. Petitions and memorials of a respectful character they are in duty bound to present, but original legislation is a matter in which they should exercise a wise discrimination.

State Senator Sargent, a lumber dealer, failed at Albert Lea, Minn., for $45,000; assets, $65,000.

THE New York Sun has the following on the flood in the Ohio Valley. This great disaster ought to enforce a vivid and fruitful lesson upon the minds of the people of this State especially. The reason for this calamity in the Ohio Valley is chiefly to be found in the destruction of the forests of the hills in Western New York, Pennsylvania and Western Virginia, where the headwaters of the Ohio are fed. That vast extent of hill country has been practically denuded of its trees and the consequence is that the heavy snows of the winter lie unprotected. Under the action of the sun and the rains of this season, instead of being very gradually melted, as they would have been had the forests been left standing, they melted and rushed down the valley of the Ohio in overwhelming force. This mighty and destructive flood of the early spring will probably be followed during the heats of summer by a corresponding drought and scarcity of water, under whose effects the Ohio will become a shadowy, sluggish stream, of very little use for the purpose of navigation or any other purpose.

Who Was He?

Enquirer.

A Kentucky divine wrote not long since to the passenger agent of a certain road, informing him that his annual pass for 1882 had expired. He expatiated on the benefit he had derived from the old pass, and how pleased and happy it had made his wife and children to know that he was permitted to travel over the road without paying fare. He finally closed the epistle by saying he thought he was deserving of an extension of the favor for another year, and signed himself a worker in Jesus Christ, &c. The head clerk who received the letter indorsed it on the back by asking for instructions from the general passenger agent. The application was returned to the chief clerk with the following written on it by his superior: "Telephone J. C., and if you find the applicant is still in His employ you had better fix him."

A Good Word for Hancock.

Washington Post.

All things considered, more execrable taste could not be shown, under any influence short of "inspired idiocy," than when the central organ of this administration undertakes to ridicule "the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1880." No man came out of that contest, either in victory or defeat, more strongly intrenched in the respect and affection of the American people than General Hancock, it is a well-known fact that Republicans generally regretted that fealty to party required them to vote against General Hancock. And it is not doubted in any quarter that, had the conditions of the conflict been equal, so that an honest choice between the two men could have been made, General Hancock would have swept the country as no candidate in recent years has done.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,

P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints, or limbs, or rheumatism. In man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 16, 1883.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,

PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

The old Ohio sneaking by,
With all its tantrums run,
Seems not to care a fig for all
The devilment it's done.
The universal verdict is,
That guilty of high crimes
It should be vigorously damned
A hundred thousand times.

The river fell about twelve inches last night.

Two living vipers were recently plowed up near the Blue Lick Springs.

The Granite State passed down last night. The Andes is due from above to-day.

A negro man named Jeff Clayburne was drowned at Lexington by the flood in Elkhorn.

The new nickel coins, plated with gold, have been lately passed, at Washington, for the five dollar pieces.

It is telegraphed from Grayson that Judge Brown has announced his intention to try both Neal and Craft at the present term of the court.

A SPECIAL despatch to the DAILY BULLETIN received late yesterday afternoon stated that the river was falling at Portsmouth and Catlettsburg, and rising at Parkersburg and Pittsburg. The indications are that the worst is over.

COL. JOHN S. JONES is now clerk on the fine steamer Reuben Springer, one of the most popular boats in the Southern trade. Such of our readers as may have occasion to go South will find it very pleasant to travel with Col. Jones, who will, we are very sure, make them as comfortable as they could wish.

CRAFT'S appearance before the court at Grayson is thus described by a correspondent:

Craft was then told to stand up while the indictment against him was read. He stood pale and motionless, and upon its completion pleaded not guilty, remarking: "Every word of it is a lie. I am not guilty." He then took his seat, the jury were sworn and the witnesses called.

During the reading of the indictment an almost painful silence ensued and almost every eye was turned upon Craft. He stood like a statue; not a muscle moved and his whole bearing was in accordance with his previous stoical attitude in prison.

THE Grayson correspondent of the Lexington Transcript sends the following to that paper:

A startling rumor comes to my ears to day that the prosecution have two witnesses from Mason county who hold the confessions of Neal and Craft, which were made while they were confined in the Maysville jail. One of these witnesses is the jailer of the county. The confessions are said to have been made on condition that they were not to be given to the parties until after the prisoners death, and are signed in the handwriting of both, duly witnessed and sworn to. The rumor has created a decided sensation to day and come from such reliable sources that I am disposed to give it credence. There is no doubt that the defense have heard of it and fear that they may be compelled to yield to the inevitable.

THE building on the corner of Wall and Second street, used by A. Finch & Co., for storing grain, and injured by the fall of the division wall between that property and the warehouse of the Pearce Brothers, contained at the time of the accident six thousand bushels of wheat and not twenty thousand bushels as has been stated. The capacity of the building is about twenty thousand bushels and something less than that number had been stored in it, but the greater part of it had been removed during last Sunday and Sunday night. Nearly all of what remained in the building has been saved in good condition. The balance when removed will probably be slightly damaged.

Call.

Mr. A. P. Gooding: We the undersigned Democratic voters of Mason county respectfully solicit you to become a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party. We pledge you our support and influence:

HERE is a substitute for cream, to be used in coffee: To a pint of milk allow the yolk of one egg; beat the egg till very light, then strain it and stir it in the milk; set this on the stove and let it scald, that is, become thoroughly heated, but not boiling. This, although lacking much that is desirable, is better than a little cold milk in the coffee.

COUNTY POINTS.

A good many went to Maysville this week to see the big river.

The time for moving is close at hand and many of the old birds about here will have to move their nests.

Mrs. A. Jefferson, mother of our worthy sheriff, died at her son-in-laws, J. W. Clary, on the 12th inst., and was buried at Shannon on the following day.

Walter Small and wife are both on the sick list, but we learn nothing serious.

Rev. W. H. Miller, who has accepted a call from the Christian Church in this place, will be with us on Sunday morn, the 25th inst. Let there be a good turn out for once.

Rev. Sidener, who has been with us two Sundays past, left Wednesday morning for Flemingsburg.

A. G. Wilson & Son have sold their tobacco, two crops of 1881-82, to A. P. Gooding for $10.50 from the ground up. They will have a little short of 20,000 pounds.

A. S. Fowler sold his tobacco to A. P. Gooding for $10 from the ground up, in keeping order.

Mrs. A. Dodson, from Robertson county, was here a few days since selling some sweet toned organettes.

There was a large distribution of valentines on the 14th inst. Nobody mad.

Since the ground has thawed and settled the growing wheat look better than was expected.

Mrs. Nannie Goodpaster, of Owingsville, Ky., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Laura Wells.

We need a hotel here to accommodate travelers.

What is the cure for gossip? Simply culture. There is a great deal of gossip that has no malignity in it. Good-natured people talk about their neighbors because, and only because they have nothing else to talk about. Gossip is always a personal confession, either of malice or imbecility, and the young should not only shun it, but by the most thorough culture relieve themselves from all temptations to indulge in it. It is low, frivolous, and, too often, dirty business. There are country neighborhoods in which it rages like a pest. Churches split in pieces by it. Neighbors made enemies for life. In many persons it degenerates into chronic disease, which is practically incurable.

Sanitary Convention.

At the instance of several members of Local Boards, there will be a general Convention of County Boards, March 7th at 10 a. m., in the Hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Louisville. The Convention will take into consideration the best modes of conducting Local Boards; the modes of preventing diseases, and the prevention of the spread of contagious diseases; the value of drainage and ventilation; and endeavor to secure greater unity of action. It is hoped that each county will be represented, and a fresh impetus given to the whole subject. A matter of such growing importance ought to excite greater interest in the people of Kentucky.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Discontent among the police at Limerick is renewed, and a strike is threatened.

Seventeen families lost their homes by fire at Mahonoy City, Pa. Loss, $18,000. Prince Jerome Napoleon has left London for Farnsboro, to visit the ex-Empress Eugenie.

A Gallatin, Mo., special says the arraignment of Frank James has been postponed to the 19th inst.

Emperor William has declined to accept the resignation of General Von Kamake, Minister of War.

L. H. Ellis, recently from Hickman county, Tenn., was shot and killed by a Mexican on a ranch near Uvalde, Texas.

It is predicted that the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations will recommend the ratification of the Mexican reciprocity treaty.

The Vatican will send a prelate to Berne to negotiate an agreement between the Pope and the Federal Government of Switzerland.

Susan Smith, M. D. of Philadelphia, one of the most prominent female physicians in the country dropped dead at the breakfast table, aged 65.

John Sheffield, a dissolute character, is charged with firing his house near Madison, Wis., in which two of his children were burned to death.

The City of Brinsbells collision jury has decided against the Kirby Hall, which is made liable to the extent of £8 per ton for the cargo lost and £15 for each life lost.

From various parts of the country come reports of small-pox. The last place for the outbreak is Finchford, Iowa, with ten cases. The disease is far less frequent all over the west than last winter.

A conflagration at Nevada, O., Monday morning destroyed property amounting to about 5,000, including the grocery and saloon of Wm. Balliett, the residence of L. G. Reynolds, and the drug store of A. N. Williams.

The fight for a reduction on sugar has been settled by a compromise amendment placing the rate at 140 per cent. on sugar testing 72° polariscope and increasing the rate 4-100 of a cent for every additional degree.

Among the items in the River and Harbor Bill reported to the House are the following: For the general improvement of the Mississippi river, $2,150,000; Baltimore harbor, $175,000; Charleston harbor, $100,000; Savannah harbor, $150,000.

At Morristown, N. J. James Treglown was sentenced to be hanged March 21st, for the murder of Minnie Ceergwin. The girl was in company with another young man and Treglown shot her and drew her into the canal, her companion fleeing.

A young man named Elias Loma, the happy possessor of a diamond cluster pin, visited a saloon at No. 3, First street, New York, Monday, and was glad to get out with his life, minus the pin, and with a badly bruised head. John Williams was afterward arrested for assault, and the pin found in his possession.

At Marine, Ill., Elijah Dongherty, col., and Chas. Strasser, the son of a wealthy farmer, having been on unfriendly terms for some time past, met on Monday evening on the highway. Strasser drew his revolver and emptied its contents at the object of his anger, three shots taking effect, producing severe wounds.

Norman Swartzell, charged with breaking into the house of Wm. McGregor, a farmer living seven miles south of Rockford, Ill., shooting McGregor, and his daughter, gagging Mrs. McGregor, and robbing the house, was arrested at St. Louis Monday evening. A reward of $500 had been offered for his capture.

After a ten days' recess, the Michigan Legislature reassembled and renewed the balloting for a United States Senator. The count shows Ferry still in the lead with forty-three votes, Stout next, with twenty-three, Chambers fourteen, the remainder divided among eleven candidates. A committee is investigating the charge of bribery in connection with the Senatorial race.

Bayne, a Pennsylvania Republican, voted no with the Democrats in the committee room upon the question of reporting favorably the bill to place Gen Grant on the retired list with the rank of General. When the Republicans recovered from their surprise they attempted to array the party lash, but Mr. Bayne wouldn't have it. He spoke a piece in reply that was too warm to be handed out to the correspondents.

As an article for the toilet, Ayer's Hair Vigor stands unrivaled. It cleanses the scalp and preserves it from seurf and dandruff, cures itching and humors, restores faded or gray hair to its original dark color and promotes its growth.

THE disfiguring eruptions on the face, the sunken eye, the pallid complexion, indicate that there is something wrong going on within. Expel the lurking foe to health. Ayer's Sarsaparilla was devised for that purpose; and does it.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL.

In Hungary children are taught in seven different languages.

At a meeting of the Presbytery of New York, held recently, measures were taken for establishing an Italian Presbyterian church in that city.

A Hartford clergyman, Rev. M. D. Buell, has been preaching against the evils of cigarette smoking. He took for his text the passage: "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth," and, to illustrate his discourse, exhibited and dissected a mammoth cigarette.—New Haven Register.

Methodism celebrated the centennial of its rise in England in 1833, and the hundredth anniversary of its introduction into this country in 1866. It is now proposed to commemorate at Baltimore in December, 1884, the centennial of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church.—Chicago Journal.

The boys of Northfield College, Minnesota, were having a great deal of fun in changing a physician's gown that of an undertaker, when a big kettle full of warm tar was emptied upon them from the roof of the house. More than twenty of them had to throw away their clothes and get their hair cut very short.—Denver Tribune.

Investigation showed a schoolmaster of Cambridge, Mass., that out of 305 in his school—ages ranging from five to fifteen years—fully four-fifths used tobacco, generally in the form of cigarettes. All but thirty of them then voluntarily signed a pledge to abstain for a year, but one-half of the smokers broke the pledge within a few months.

A recent traveler in Bible lands says: "Of all the seven churches of Asia, Smyrna alone is living still. It was with considerable interest I worshiped at the English church, and saw written over the communion-table: 'To the angel of the church in Smyrna,' closing with the thrilling promise: 'Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.'"

A pair of girl students at a Texas female seminary had arranged to elope with their lovers whom they were to meet at a railroad station seven miles away. This distance they patiently trudged through the mud and on arrival at the appointed place were met by one of the professors of the school, who, aware of their undertaking, concluded to let them foot it to the rendezvous, but to give them a carriage ride back to school. Which he did.—Detroit Post.

Stopping Engines by Electricity.

Among the various uses to which electricity may be put there is one of a very simple and practical nature which promises to effect a great saving of property and life if brought into general operation. The inventor of this new contrivance is Mr. Tate. But, to speak correctly, it is rather an application of existing electric power than a new discovery. Simply, the contrivance is an arrangement for the immediate stoppage of a steam engine by merely pressing a button similar to those by which electric bells or fire-alarms are sounded. This button may be placed at any distance from the engine upon which it acts; and Mr. Tate proposes that a number of such buttons should be dispersed throughout the factory or elsewhere where the apparatus is in use. In factories accidents occur almost daily through the impossibility of stopping machinery on the instant. Such accidents, will, it seems, be readily avoided by this method of instantaneously stopping the engine from any part of the building in which it works. The principle of the contrivance depends on the action of an electro-magnet upon the stop-valve of the engine.—St. James' Gazette.

Sentimental inscriptions do not always have the effect their authors intended. In the cemetery of Pere Lachaise are two columns, side by side, with the inscriptions (in French, of course):

"Adelaide R.—
"I wait for you. 1845."

On the other:

"Louis R.—
"Here I am. 1881."

Beneath the last some gamin has scribbled:

"He took his time."
